The university gives a scholar ship to a leading graduate at each high school, on the basis of data supplied by the principals and teachers. Scholastic ability, intellectual promise, personality, leader-ship and extra-curricular activity are among the factors governing the choice.

Goldring, born in Russia, spoke only Hebrew when he came to America in 1924 at the age of 10. He studied for a time in Franklin Intermediate School and entered Soldan in April, 1929. During three vacations he attended summer high school, enabling him to graduate in little more than three years. His average grade for the whole time at Soldan was 91.71 per cent. He has been active in various school clubs and class affairs, in debating and as associate editor of the school paper. At Franklin he played football and he is a proficient swimmer. He plays the violin. A year ago he won a Colonial Dames history prize. For more than four years he has worked in a drug store in spare time. INDIANA MINE PAY AGREEMENT

Back to Work.

By the Associated Press.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., June 11.—
A wage of $4 a day for inside day laborers and $0 cents a ton for pick coal was agreed upon by the Joint Scale Committee of the Indiana Coal Operators' Association and District 11 of the United Mine Workers of America here today.

The scale represents a cut of $4 \frac{14}{12} per cent of the wage provided in the 1931 agreement which terminated March 31. The day wage scale then was $6.10.

There was a general sentiment throughout the district that the proposal would be ratified. The new agreement would expire March 1, 1935. Workers of America here today.
The proposal will be submitted to

HOOVER KEEPS IN TOUCH BY PHONE

WASHINGTON, June 11 .- President Hoover kept in active touch today with the rapidly shaping affairs of the Republican national convention by telephone.

He conferred at length with Secretary of the Treasury Mills at the White House prior to Mills', departure for Chicago, where he will serve as a delegate-at-large from New York. Mills is slated for a place on the Resolutions Commi tee, which will handle the prohibi-

The President was reported in nuarters usual authoritative as have ing expressed emphatic disapproval of suggestions that a straight republican platform.

Mr. Hoover talked with his aids in Chicago during the morning by telephone, and there were indications at the White House that these conversations were continued later in the day.

Secretary of War Hurley took part in the conference of Mr. Hoo-ver and Mills. Hurley expects to leave the capital tomorrow or Mon-day for Chicago. He has been in touch with convention affairs. Dur-ing the day he voiced the opinion that any major struggle over prohi-bition could be kept from the con-

In order to Keep in touch with both political and economic affairs, President Hoover decided against spending the week-end at his Rapidan fishing camp.

Postmaster-General Brown has been in Chicago for some time. He will be joined tomorrow by Mills, with Secretaries Stimson, Wilbur, Doak, Hyde and Lamont either arriving then or by Monday.

Under present plans, only Secretary of the Navy Adams and Attorney-General Mitchell. Democratic member of the Cabinet, will remain in the capital.

bition against Circuit Judge Hall wife, was discharged during the of St. Louis, voiding his action in trial on the state's motion so that placing the company in receiver-

Describing the receivership suit as designed to force dissolution of the company and dissipation of its resources, the Court said: "The superintendent of insurance would be on hand as statutory undertaker to distribute the remains."

The Court held that the State

Superintendent of Insurance has exclusive jurisdiction in the administration of insurance com-panies organized under the State insurance laws and that the courts may not interfere with his exercise of that jurisdiction.

Sought by Attorney.

The receivership was sought by Jerome Duggan, St. Louis attorney, owner of five shares of stock in the company. Hall, acting on Dug-gan's petition, placed the company in temporary receivership March 29, but the provisional rule of prohibition granted by the State Su-preme Court prevented receivers from taking charge.

The Missouri State Life Insurance Co. is the largest insurance company west of the Mississippi River.

Joseph B. Thompson, State Superintendent of lasurance, one of the receivers named by Judge Hall, supported the company's fight against the receivership. The other receiver was Montague Lyon, a St. Louis attorney. Duggan in his petition charged mismanagement.

Court Criticises Suit.

The opinion, written by Judge Ernest S. Gantt, said, "It is clear from the record that the sole purpose of those interested in the Dug-gan suit was to force the company into a receivership."

"The appointment of the Super-intendent of Insurance as receiver shows that those interested in the suit knew that the procedings would force a dissolution of the company. After the dissipation of large sums of the company's money for expenses, fees and allowances to those directly and indirectly interested, the Superintendent of In-surance, as statutory undertaker, would be on hand to distribute the remains," the opinion said.

The opinion, referring to Lyon, said he was "a lawyer of extensive business experience and for that reason would be helpful to the Superintendent of Insurance."
"It will be noted that said lawyer was not appointed because of knowledge of the life insurance business. Of course, he was not appointed because he was a lawyer. upon whom would rest the legal esponsibilities of the receivership," the opinion continued.

The insurance laws were upheld as a valid exercise of the State's police power, the Court saying the Insurance Superintendent was the administrative officer and that the ourts "are without authority to interfere with his administration of

It Is $70 Compared With $213 for Philadelphia Highest in This Class -Atlantic City's Is $375.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK. June 11 .- The average citizen in 219 leading cities of the United States must eventually pay $114 to eliminate the debt of his local government.

This is $4.96 more than his obligation was in 1931, and $9.88 more than it was in 1930. His obligation increased 4.3 per cent this year over that of last year, and $.7 per cent over that of 1930. In 33 large cities the net bonded ndebtedness has increased from $2,608,000,000 ten years ago to $4,-633,000,000 this year, an increase of 77 per cent. The population of these cities increased during decade from 21,873,778 to 26,204,-091, or 20 per cent. The per capita net debt increase was from $119.27 to $176.82 for the period. These figures are drawn from the report on city debts by C. E. Right-

Six Entombed Miners Freed.

PARK CITY, Utah, June 11.—
Six miners were released late today from a drift in the Silver King Western mine, after being impris-oned 30 hours. A rescue crew of 12 cut through the debris of a cavein which trapped the men yes-terday. Given food by a large pipe driven through the wet soil, the six said their greatest discomfort came from water four feet deep.

The stillness of the Ohio night—the immemorial hush of the Arizona desert disturbed by the roar of swift moving cars—darkness shattered by headlights—eyes glued to the road ahead. Rain, hail, sleet, snow, sunshine. Darkness flying before the dawn—dawn merging into darkness. Tired men releasing the wheels to relief drivers. Then off again—uphill and down—around and around—over a good that had no ending which circled the world truesty.

Two million tire miles were driven under actual road conditions and complete chemical and physical analyses were made in an independent laboratory, involving 251 sizes and makes of tires, including all of the leading brands and the famous ALLSTATE COMPANION

Conducting these tests was Prof. Phil C. Huntly of Armour Institute of Technology. A truth seeking scientist searching impartially for the truth about tires.

The scientifically hard-boiled road test revealed that:

Kansas City Candidate for G. O. P. Nomination for of Young Brothers.

pecial to the Post-Dispatch. KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 11.-Republican nomination for Governor, in a statement of his position on public issues today, directly attacked the administration of the of State Charles U. Becker, one of his opponents.

Koehler, who has been Highway days ago. He referred directly to the collanse of Young Brothers, Inc., which failed two years ago with a loss to investors of more than $2,000,000, and which continued to operate without investigation by the Secre-tary of State even after complaints had been lodged with him. "Our present Blue Sky Department has cost the investors of Missouri millions of hard-earned sav-ings." Koehler said. "This department is handled by the Secretary of State and such notorious bubbles as that of the Young Brothers company emphasize the folly of its

"More prosecution of crooked fi-nancial schemes and less 'approval' by the State is needed. Thousands of people have been robbed of their life savings just because stocks were sold to them as having been approved by the Missouri Blue Sky Department."

For Repeal of 18th Amer As to the liquor question he said: "Prohibition has been tried for 12 years and it has been found that its evils outweigh its blessings. The saloon has been replaced by the speakeasy and the bootlegger. It has built up a bootlegging aris-tocracy that has created an alliance between the gangster and the Gov-ernment. Let us destroy this con-

"I would be unwilling to endanger my country's government and to risk its future by continuing a policy of attempted liquor control, which results in the creation of a competitive government composed of desperate and powerful crimi-

"When the Volstead law is modified-and there is an avalanche of sentiment sweeping for that reform -Missouri still will be unable to manufacture or distribute beer and laws. I favor the repeal or amend-State will be able to manufacture and distribute beer and light wines when the Volstead law is modified

"End Reign of Racketeer." "I am unalterably opposed to the old saloon days and believe in temperance, but it is high time we awaken to the demand to end the reign of the racketeer. Millions will be converted into taxes instead of graft.

"The time is near when there will be a national referendum on prohibition. The people have never vot-ed on this question and I favor a State referendum on the question It will be the duty of the Governor Koehler also discussed the execu tive cost of State government, and pledged himself to the effort to reduce expenses and to reduce the tax burden in the State. He said he was : ligned with no political "clique," and "if nominated and elected I would have no political debts to pay, but would go into office free to carry out my ideas of State Government Koehler Born in Kansas City.

Koehler was born in Kansas City. He has been elected County Highway Engineer in Jackson County three successive times.

In St. Louis he has the support of Circuit Clerk John Schmoll and several other politicians who are interested in bringing about the nomination of a pronounced wet they believe it will bring to the general election.

Collector Koeln is supporting Lieutenant-Governor Winter, as are a number of other Republican leaders. Becker has the support in St. Louis of a majority of the members of the Republican City Committee, several of whom are on the official payroll of Becker. Information from Kansas City is to the effect that Koehler so far has little support among ac-tive Republican leaders there, most of whom are committed to

NEW YORK, June 11.-Securities markets underwent further liquidation for a time this week but sentiment brightened as the market turned close to the bear market lows established a week previously.

The better feeling was considerably accentuated by an upturn of the American dollar in the foreign exchange markets and a bullish Government winter wheat crop es-fairly even keel throughout the week, but stocks reacted substantially in the first three trading sessions, and recovered only partially later. The share market had a spirited rally on Friday, coincident with a bull coup in the erratic Au I shares of Auburn Auto, which came close to precipitating a bear panic.

But the market seemed unwilling it of follow leadership of that character far, and buying power was be a compared to the quickly exhausted.

The bond market advanced a little on Monday and Tuesday, when it was learned that the American Securities Investing Corp. had quietly started operations. These gains were lost later, however, and the price index of 60 corporate issues ended the wec': at 61, off 2-10 of one point from the end of the previous week. The price index of 90 leading shares dropped to 36.3 on Wednesday, where it was only a little more than a point above the week before. It ended the week Calu & Rec. at 35 c. or 29 points under the CDGA 1.20.

Technical influences seemed to have governed the movement, for the day's contributions to information on the state of trade conveyed nothing of particular interest. The important for the present state of the postal Telegraph and Cable of the first four months of 1932 at 1931, has been issued. The imporession that Congress was nearing adjournment gathered strength doubtless it had had much to do with the drive against shorts in stocks whose small capitalizations make them most susceptible to sharp market movements. It was also noted with satisfaction that the gold flow had dwindled to a mere trickle, compared with recent volume, although foreign currenties improved moderately in today's transactions.

Gold Outflow Abates.

The heavy outflow of gold, which has undoubtedly had a bad psychological influence, and has tended to counteract the Federal Reserve System's credit expansion program, began to abate measureably this week, coincident with the strength of the dollar. The gold loss thus far in June as come close to $180,000,000.

The outstanding financial operation of the week was the $750,000,000 of new financing of the U.S. Treasury. Of this smount, $350,-

MORAL: ABOLISH WAR.

These African Explorers

Thrill seekers in Africa will be disappointed, says ex-official, for country is largely modernized; yet they still report perils, though officials chaperon their trips; hardships are due only to inexperience; native social affairs are described as weird rites; public expects such details, and books without them will not sell.

Herbert Best, F. R. G. S., Former District Officer of Nigeria, in Harper's.

As the explorers describe her, Africa is still the Dark Continent, land of weird, nameless terrors; land of "ju ju" and awful orginstic rites; land where the white traveler journeys in constant peril and un-dergoes incredible hardships. Depicted thus, Africa makes a splendid setting for epics of fered for sweet publicity's sake.

But the picture has one serious fault, namely, that it is not true. It is out of drawing. It over-emphasizes certain aspects of the country while understating, or completely ignoring, others.

To avoid being accused of a similar distortion of the truth, I must make it clear that the term explorer as used here does gaged in the scientific study of Africa her wild life and her people. I apply the term as a convenient label to the swarm of writing and lecturing travelers who use her as a springboard from which to leap into the public eye.

Africa is no longer the Africa of Stanley and Livingstone. In many respects it has changed, and is still changing. The country has been pretty completely pacified. The extension of modern lines of communication and transportation, the spread of education the adoption of enlightened methods of deal-ing with the native populations, are affecting conditions there. These are facts which the sensation-seeking explorer chooses not

What the explorer needs nowadays, rather than physical courage, is social stamina. For the farther he goes off the beaten trails, the more certain he is to meet enthusiasts. He will be taken on long journeys through the blazing heat to see a new teachers training college, or an amateurish bridge which it is fondly hoped will de wonden for an isolated village.
On the whole, he will find well-cut evening clothes more useful in Africa than a formidable arsenal. But the dinner jackets, white messkits and even Paris gowns of the Residency dances, the sociological and engineering betterments of the bush—these will not find their way into the saga of his adventures. On the subject of white hos-pitality, official and otherwise, the explorer pitality, official and otherwise, the explorer is strangely silent.

The explorer is never out of contact with the government, never unexpected when he arrives at a station. He is always accompanied by a native interpreter, pressed upon him free of charge, if not by a government native messenger. Often a white official will leave his duties in order to escort the explorer round. Never does he travel alone. The explorer has nothing to fear from the natives in the ordinary way, provided he treats them with consideration. This includes observing local rules of etiquette and refraining from giving offense. Being just as human as we, however, the natives can scarcely be blamed if at times they resent ungentiemanly behavior on the part of travelers. No administrator wants to imprison or showing their resentment in too rough and ready a fashion. Far simpler and more effective to keep an eye on the explorer and lead him in the way he should go. Hence the kindly custom, maintained in the interest of general harmony, of passing the newcomer on from hand to hand as care-fully as a registered package. It is not surprising, in a way, that the explorer should arrive in Africa full of misconceptions as to his needs; for he has read the books of other explorers and based his with stories of danger and hair-breadth escapes, he concentrates on extensive batteries of firearms, cameras and typewriting materials, while neglecting to provide him-sponsible for such hardships as he may actually endure. Men without camping experience, who might well think twice before spending a few nights in the open in thefr own countries, go to Africa blandly confi-dent of their ability to engineer prolonged camping trips across a strange land. As anyone can imagine who has ever organized for a novice, knowing no native language, to wrestle with the daily problems of food, po and loading of 30 to 100 cheerful but addi real danger makes it practicable to allow

If the explorer did not regard his own rites and customs as the only reasonable ones, did not take himself as the only yardstick of comparison, he would derive less thrill from native usages, but would under-stand them better. In that event, juggling entertainments, curative medicine, criminal poisoning, religious rites, omen taking might cease to be confused in his book under the term witchcraft, or "ju ju." If the explored left his funny little pornographic mind at home, he would no longer read into village dances, debutantes' parties and other social activities, elements of lewdness of which

The question is: Are these explorers gen-uinely naive or do they deliberately faisify? Or are they only doing the best they can, against heavy odds, to please the publishers and the reading public? One may take one's choice of explanations,

The explorer goes to Africa looking for sensational material. He wants to find something new. His publisher and his pub-2000 years almost everything has been dis-covered from mythical human monsters to cannibal pygmies. Yet the demand re-mains unsatisfied. What is the explorer to Byen the natives disappoint him in their talk of crops and weather, if farmers; of markets and prices, if traders. Their talk is the same as country and small-town talk the world over. And the better the poor fellow gets to know them, the more dismally hanal they appear.

So the explorer rejects the evidence of his eyes and ears in favor of his preconceived notions, the notions he cherished before leaving home, of what Africa must be. The Africa of the explorers, "where the cries of prowling beasts echo through a primal wilderness and primitive man crouches trembling in his grass but or seeks refuge in tree or care."

Opera Revives 'Riviera Girl'

Kalman's Tuneful Musical Comedy, Not Seen Here For 14 Years, Will Bring Yvonne D'Arle Back to The Forest Park Stage Tomorrow Night to Sing the Title Role—Robertson, Ceeley, Morton, Hope Emerson and Other Favorites Also in Cast—"The Last Waltz," by Straus, to Be Following Production.

HE Municipal Opera reaches back some 14 years for its secon show of the present season in presenting tomorrow night "The Riviera Girl," a delightful musical-comedy-operetta which was done here, back in 1918, at the American Theater. It has not been presented here since and has never been done on the Municipal stage in Forest Park. Theatergoers of the war times will recall the success which "The Riviera Girl" scored here during the week it played downtown. Wilds Bennett and Carl Gantvoort headed the cast then and Sam Hardy, long a standhy in the movies since those days, was also in the cast.

The revival of this play, with its tuneful score by Emmerich Kalman and its very funny book by P. G. Wodehouse and Guy Bolton, will also mark the return to St. Louis of Yvonne D'Arle, a great favorite a few seasons ago with Municipal Opera audiences who has come back to sing the title role and to play, later, the leading roles in three other productions of the summer. Miss D'Arle, a former prima donna with the Metropolitan Opera Company, was won over to the lighter stage following her first appearances here and, since that summer visit in Forest Park, she has had at least one brilliant Broadway success as a Ziegfeld star in "The Three Musketeers."

In "The Riviera Girl" she is the center of a romantic love conflict in which appear Guy Robertson as a supposedly penniless suitor, and Leonard Ceeley as Charles Lorenz, whose father, for reasons of family pride, threatens to disinherit him if he marries a vaudeville singer. Miss D'Arle has a congenial role as the singer, Sylvia Va-

The elder Lorenz, a Count, wants his son to marry at least a Countess. Sam Springer, who comes from Fisburg, U. S. A., has a happy idea that he has seen worked out in some show that played his town. He would have Sylvia marry a Count, for as a Countess, even if divorced, she will be the social equal of young Lorenz.

HERE are the elements both of romance and fun. And while Robertson, Miss D'Arle and Ceeley are developing the romance, Harry K. Morton and Hope Emerson, playing opposite each other as Sam Springer and his wife, Birdie, who have come to Europe to reform Monte Carlo, develop the fun. To the comedy also Hugh Cameron, in the role of a waiter, adds his contribution.

Cameron, a newcomer to Municipal Opera casts is a comedian from both the dramatic and musical stages of Broadway and Carl Randall, whose clever dancing was a feature last week gets his first speaking part this season. Barbara Newberry appears in an ingenue role, the modern daughter of a gay baron, played by George Houston. John Goldsworthy is the Count Lorenz, and Frederic Persson is Gustay, who owns the Garden Theater in which much of the intrigue de-

Watson Barratt has taken advantage of opportunity afforded in "The Riviera Girl" to develop the new style of stage setting which will be a feature of Municipal Opera's productions this season. It is an adaption on a larger scale of a plan created by him for Ethel Barrymore's production of "The Barrymore's production of "The dies," which is one of the most education and is entertaining the first the same for the queer program this week is a little money man. Ambassador to Put On Own Stage Bills Reviving Its M. C's.

THE Ambassador Theater which, since the abandonment of the traveling Publix stage shows. has been playing a brand of musi-cal and vaudeville entertainment cal and vandeville entertainment furnished theater circuits by the Loew organization in New York, has decided to do away with those units also and return to its first love—producing of shows each week here in St. Louis under the direction of Ralph Nichols.

The change will be made at an date with a local chorus and at the same time a master of cere-monies will be engaged. Dick Pow-ell, who held that spot for a time with success, is slated to be the first presiding officer, and there is a possibility that, after three or four weeks of his entertaining, the once popular and record-breaking Ed Lowry will be brought back to the scene of his extended triumphs.

DeMille and His Bathtuh

One Time King of Directors, Who Spent Many Years in Glorifying the American Wash Room on The Screens, Soon to Start Work on "The Sign of The Screens, Soon to Start Work on The Sign of The Cross," Into Which He Will Drag a Roman Turkish Bath—Try and Guess Who Cary Grant, A New Screen Juvenile, Really Is, or Was.

E were never among the worshipers at the shrine of Cecil De Mille, one of the first kings of the picture makers. De Mille did things on a big scale, always, and things pretty much in own way in the early days of the gold coast rush. His brother Wi liam, at least to our way of thinking, turned out better cinema dra mas but never got anything like the same amount of credit. Neith has done very much since the coming of the talkies. Cecil turns out one picture, as we recall it, "Madam Satan," in 1930 white wasn't so bot, and followed it last season with a remake of his ve first film, "The Squaw Man." That was no riot either and the rector went off on a 'round the world journey. The remarks the one hears in movie circles, however, that C. B. is all washed up as pear to be exaggerated, for a man who "hasn't a good picture lef in his system" can't have as much enthusiasm and eagerness as he If he were through he'd show it some way. He'd drop some re mark like "I'll show 'em what can be done with a great idea."

Pacing back in his studio office, jingling a handful of sold pieces, he tells about plans for his next picture., To illustrate, he frequently points to penciled sketches lining the walls, depicting inportant scenes in his forthcoming "The Sign of the Cross,

There's even one of a bathtub-De Mille is the man who glori fied the Amerian washroom on the screen-occupied by a couple of Roman ladies, who, the director explains, are exchanging gos that changed the history of the world. There are others of the amph theater and of Rome before and after its destruction

The story is based on a 32-year-old stage play that De Mille been trying to "sell" Hollywood for 12 years. 0 0 0 0

F the 58 pictures De Mille has made in 19 years, the most sucessful have been those his superiors didn't want him to make. Skeptical executives talked against "The Ten Commandments." One even told him: "Might as well try to make a story out of the telephone directory."

"The Sign of the Cross" will be spectacular, on the order "The Ten Commandments" and "The King of Kings." Close to $1, 000,000 will be spent producing it. By the time the story goes before the cameras in July, nearly 10 months will have been spent preparing it. De Mille expects to be from eight to 10 weeks shooting it. The story, he says, is as modern as a gangster picture.

"The idea that a so-called 'costume' story cannot be told in terestingly is a common one. A good story, no matter its period, it always interesting," says De Mille.

"The story of the growth of Christianity is indeed a story wor telling. I suppose some will criticise me for using a religious theme. "But I'll remind them that I'm talking about religion-n

Young Leach-Grant has had a lot of ups and downs and although he is up now he is also down for, not long before he came to St. Louis to dazzle the girl customers in Forest Park he was a stilt walker, a sort of sandwich man at Coney Island advertising Stilt walking wasn't his chosen profession. No one, old still walkers tell us, picks stilting as a life work. They just happen on it. So with Cary. He intended to be an acrobat all his life, taking up stilting a few years ago only as a means of livelihood.

He ran away from his home in Bristol, England, when he was 12 years old to join a troupe of "knock-about" comedians. B learned to tumble and fall and do nip-ups and when he became quite proficient he was put on 10-foot stilts and told to fall off then Eventually the act Archie Lead

Report Made for Period Since Sea-son Opened on Memorial

iven to five persons in danger has een made by Lawrence Cohn, resident of the Meramec River

In one instance a swimmer at Lincoln Beach became exhausted in attempting to cross the river and was taken to shore by David Ruhr, a member of the patrol. George Hemmer, another member, assisted a man who had fallen off a metor-boat into the water. Rey Davids, Pfeil and Winston Weseloh are other patrol members who have given assistance.

Members of the patrol have warned several operators of motor-boats against excessive speed when passing swimmers or canoes. The patrol is sponsored by the St. Louis playgrounds and a number of social agencies, several of which provide recreation for adults as well as children.

Leading the list of play facilities are the two groups of playgrounds and group gatherings of various sorts.

APARTMENTS FOR RENT

SKINKER BOULEVARD It is at once apparent that here is the chosen place of those accustomed to the best. The strong appeal of unlimited sunshine, un-matched location and superior arrangement makes the 6, 7 and 8 room apartments with 2, 3 and 4 baths, without an equal.

Each apartment occupies an entire wing, giv-ing 3 full exposures, including a beautiful view of Forest Park.

DOWNTOWN EMPLOYED BOYS

GOLF EXHIBITION TODAY BY FOUR ST. LOUIS PROS IN U. S. OPEN

By W. J. McGoogan.

Four youthful golf professionals who will represent this city in the national open tournament at Fresh Meadow Golf Club, New York, June 23 to 25 will meet in an exhibition match at Normandie Golf Club at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Jimmy Fogerty, Osage, who led the sectional trial at Algonquis last Monday with a 36-hole score of 138, and Clarke Morse, Normandie, who had 140, will oppose Ralph Guldanl, St. Louis Country Club and Frank Moore, Westborough who tied Morse's score at Algon-quin. Guldahl qualified for the that he was one of the 30 low scorers in last year's event.

Age Range Is 22 to 24.
None of the four St. Louis rep. resentatives is more than 24 years of age and none younger than 22. Fogertey is the eldest of the quar-tet. He is 24. Moore is 23 while Morse is 22, the same age as Guldahl.

Fogertey and Morse got their starts in golf in St. Louis. In fact they have played virtually all of their golf in this city, while Moore is from Memphis, Tenn., and Gule dahl from Dallas, Tex. All four are ex-caddies. Forer. tey having carried bags at the St. Louis Country Club, while Morse Inged clubs at Forest Park. Moore did his caddying at Memphis while Guldahl did the same at

More is expected of Guldahl in the open than from the other thre players chiefly because of his greater tournament experience, Ralph has been making the rounds of the winter tournaments for the the game. He finished thirteent among the money winners on the last winter tour, winning the Arizona open championship and placing in the money in several other events.

He therefore should not suffer rom the stage fright which so frequently attacks the beginner in the Open. At the same time, Ralph has another great advana big, husky fellow, taller than 6 feet and weighing about 190 pounds. He should be able to stand the strain of 72 holes of medal play better than the other three. Fogertey and Moore are

A Man Who Came Back, Another Who Already Is Here and a Third Who Is Going Places

Rene Lacoste (extreme left) was supposed to be out of the tennis picture; but his recent victory over Sidney Wood (at Lacoste's left), indicates he has come back and may again become a Davis Cup factor. Max Schmeling (center) "arrived" as champion two years ago and in this recent photo looks as though he might carry on in spite of Jack Sharkey, whom he fights July 21. Lou Gehrig, the big boy in the right hand picture, is going places with that war club. Recently he tied the world record for consecutive homers in a single game, four. Bobby Lowe, the old-timer at Gehrig's although distiked, has always been a good drawing card. The Stribling-Schmeling fight in Cleveland one year ago drew $350,000. In a population center of some 7,000,000 persons, the Sharkey-Schmeling affair, a much more interesting attraction, ought to go at least $150,000 over the receipts from last year's

Nothing to It.

R EPORTS about the "new Sharkey" are still dribbling in through news channels. But we hope that Jack is not pinning much faith on the extra 10 pounds which it is said he will carry into the ring with him The only sort of extra weight that is worth while to an athlete is the sort that he picks up while developing himself at his particular specialty. Boxers who are "built up" by actual fighting and by boxing and run-ning, really benefit themselves.

But those who pick up weight by exercises foreign to ring requirements handicap merely themselves with excess poundage. Weight that is taken on through easy life is wholly harmful.

key has done any amount of fighting, running or boxing to develop himself. On 'the con-trary, when he began training, photos showed him to have a distinctly puffed-up appearance. This means that if Sharkey enters the ring weighing 205 pounds, he will be slowed up about 10 pounds in his move-

It is highly probable that as between the slighter Schmeling and the "built-up" Sharkey, the 190-pound fighter will show the greater endurance.

Speeding Up.

ONE of the remarkable fea-tures of the current athletic campaign, is the number of sprinters able to run the 100 and 220 yards distances in time that once was considered phenomenal.
Hardly a week passes but we read of some new flyer running the century in 9.6 seconds, or the 220 under 21 seconds.

The record stood at 9 3-5 seconds for 25 years or more and in all that time only half a dozen

In this year of the Tenth Olympic Games revivals, the athletic spirit seems to have reached its pinnacle. There are a score of runners who can run in 9.8 or better and half as many who have done 9.7 or 9.6. Here in St Louis we have Jack Tierney of Marquette, Hud-son Helimich of Illinois, and per-haps Bob McClure of University City, all able to run in 9.8 or bethave won races in time better than 9.8, and two of them have won in 9.6, Owen and Bell.

Olympics Revive Interest.

B ESIDES these local boys there are Wykoff, Kiesel, Tolan, Metcalfe, Johnson, Toppino, Simpson, Bennett and literally a host of other track burn-ers who now and then rise to record-breaking heights.

There seems to be no particular reason for the unusual number of stars or near-record performances, unless it is that the Olympic games created a new spirit of rivalry which has brought out more and better sprinters.

With all this wealth of talent it seems unlikely that a Percy Williams will arise this year to shut us out of short distance honors at Los Angeles.

Credit Goes to Concordia.

Some confusion exists re-garding next Saturday's track and field games at Maplewood High School Field. The games have been referred to as the championships; but they are really being promoted and handled by the Concordia Gym-nastic Society. The Western District will recognize the win-ners as district champions and the athletes will, of course, have

A. A. U. cards. But the work is being done by the Concordia Society, and all the medals will be supplied by

Incidentally Concordia is sponsoring what promises to be the most interesting athletic event that has been held here championships were held at

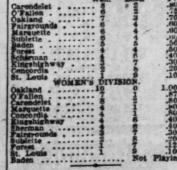

All of the local flyers mentioned above will meet in the sprint events constituting the mark in a St. Louis race.

By the Associated Press.
CLEVELAND, O., June 11.—
Babe Ruth's eighteenth home run on base in the first inning, proved on base in the first inning, proved only a temporary annoyance to Wesley Ferrell today, and the big right-hander went on to pitch a six-hit game, while the Indians rallied to defeat the New York Yankees, 6 to 3.

The Indians got to George Pip-gras in the fifth and drove him from the hill three innings later after he had yielded 12 hits.

CHICAGO, June 11 .- Projectile a bay colt sporting the pink and blue silks of Walter Salmon of New York, convinced the West today that Red Whisk and In High were not the only candidates for twoyear-old honors in this region,

Given a hustling ride by Jockey Charlie Allen, the son of Swift and Sure-Fair Priscilla proved his class before a crowd of 10,000 at Washington Park by reeling off five and one-half furlongs in 1:06 2-5, to capture the $5000 added Thomas Curran Memorial Stake event for turdom's babies. Taking his time in the early running, he dashed into the lead at the stretch and breezed home a good length ahead of Broad Bill, a field horse, in High, winner of the Bashford Manor Stake at Churchill Downs, finished third, a short nose behind Broad Bill. Red Whisk, racing wide, finished fifth.

Projectile was marked as a "hot horse" long before the "bables" came out for their dash. In his workouts, he had literally burned up the track and the word spread around so rapidly that his mutuel price fell from an opening of 8 to 1 to a final pay-off of $8.20 for $2.

The victory was worth $6580 net. Liqueur, a 12-to-1 shot owned by Hal Price Headley, set the early pace, with Projectile running evenly in second place. Then, as they reached the stretch, Jockey Allen let him go and he fairly flew home. In High met with some interference at the stretch turn, but was closing rapidly on Broad Bill, which had lipped into second and held on with great courage. In the betting Projectile paid $8.20 to win, $5.60 to place and Broad Bill was grouped in the "fielders," and paid $13.64 to place and $6.64 to show. In High's show price was $6.28.

clusion reached by Harvard University scientists, who for the past five years have been making a detailed study of the criminal populations of 10 states. Not only do criminals as a group show definite physical deviations from the normal population, but the additional fact is established that criminals differ markedly among themselves, according to the nature of their crime. bootleggers and forgers, for instance, showing as a class characteristics that distinguish them from first-degree

The conclusion that this stamp of evil exists, in many forms and intricate ramifications, has been arrived at through the study of more than 2.000 .-000 measurements of 16,000 criminals, collected under the direction of Dr. Earnest A. Hooton, Professor of An thropology at Harvard University.

"A curious and well-nigh incredible relationship of body build to nature of offense in white criminals," and a noticeable divergence of American first-degree murderers from other types of criminals, are among the most significant findings so far announced. The investigation has been going on for five years now, and will take at least another year, according to Prof. Hooton, before it is completed. There remains yet a great mass of data to study and analyze, and when the report on the investigation is finally published it will probably require three or four good-sized volumes.

Nevertheless, some extremely interesting facts have already come to light. and sociologists, psychologists and criminologists, not to mention lawyers, judges and laymen, are studying Prof. Hooton's findings with considerable interest, as they promise, for the first time in history, to establish scientifically the relation between the physical makeup of the criminal and his crime.

The information gathered about each criminal is of this sort: birthstature, weight and many other bodily the law-abiding population. measurements and characteristics, such as color of eyes, hair and skin, exact are usually uneducated. zona, New Mexico, Colorado, Missouri, Wisconsin, Tennessee, Kentucky and North Carolina were included.

Since it seemed to be of no use to measure criminals unless the measurements could be compared with those of the normal, law-abiding population, a number of non-criminals, sufficient to act as a "control," were examined.

HE Massachusetts militia allowed themselves to be used for this purpose. Likewise, in studying the criminal insane, it was necessary to measure the civil insane for comparison, so that 2000 of the 18,000 subjects are not of the criminal class.

"So far as I have gone," says Prof. Hooton, commenting on the mass of data he is studying, "it is perfectly obvious that every category of criminal, from the criminal population in that place, age, nationality, nationality of whether divided by type or crime, ra- they are older, heavier, taller, biggerparents, occupation, marital status, off- cial type, or parentage and nativity, is chested, with greater head circumferspring, education, intelligence rating, physically smaller than and inferior to nature of offense, previous convictions, a corresponding type of individual in

"It is also obvious that murderers facts that pertain to pathology, forgers are a much better educated per cent only have attended college. "Further examination of this same group, made up of 6000 white criminals from 10 states, shows that in the true Nordic type, as indicated by pure blue eyes, yellow or ash-blond hair and long head, there are few convictions for homicide. But this type is also remarkable for its enormous excess of forgers. But in the class we call "predominately Nordic," murderers are not

First degree murderers of nativé, white parentage and of what might be called English-Scotch origin, are markedly different from other criminals of similar background.

"These first-degree murderers," says Dr. Hooton, "diverge significantly ence, narrower foreheads, longer and relatively narrower noses, broader jaws, broader ears, relatively narrower shoulders, relatively shorter trunks, vex noses, fewer and poorer teeth, both facial symmetry, and other differences. Some of these differences are no doubt due to the higher average of this class of prisoner, but only a small percentage of them can be accounted for on that ground.

"Among those sentenced for assault charges I find a very high proportion of red-headed people, which seems to uphold the popular belief that redheaded people are quick to vent their

"On the other hand, among native white sex offenders, other than those charged with rape, we find a disproportionately large number with black -not just dark-hair. We find that approximately 5 per cent of other criminals of the same racial origin have black hair, but among the sex offenders the proportion is doubled, which is a significant increase when based on a large number of cases.

"Surprisingly enough, all Negro

The mixed, or Negroid, criminals differ among themselves in physical type according to offenses, but not as markedly as do native whites.

> HESE criminal Negroids are quite distinct from civilian Negroids, but resemble civilian non-college Negroids more closely than they resemble those who have undergone higher education-indicating that the type that seeks college education is somewhat different from the Negroids are much bigger physically gresses we may find that racial types as indicated by physical features are less important factors in crime than national groupings are. When the whole series of native-born criminals of native parentage is compared with a sample of the non-criminal population of the same origin, it is apparent samples, whether pure Negro or Ne- that in the sum total of their metrical. groid, show up very favorably with the and proportional features the crimwhites in sex offenses. For instance among the native white criminals, 1st tum to the left, which is a greater proportion than in the civilian group while this same deviation among first degree murderers of the same racial group reaches the much higher figure of 22 per cent. "The classification by occupation reveals a number of surprising facts. A higher percentage of crimes against the person are committed by people in the rural sections than I had previous ly considered to be the case. I don't, however, as yet know how much these figures are influenced by the fact that there are a lot of Tennessee and Kentucky mountaineers on our list.

"It seems evident, from our data, that factory workers are more likely to commit crimes against property. Among the robbers and forgers there is a high percentage of skilled work ers. They are for the most part very

"In a group which I have classed to gether as those who have committed offenses against public welfare, including hootlegging, drug peddling and automobile offenses of 'sufficient gravity to bring a penitentiary sentence there is a very high percentage of educated men.

HEY are on the average older than other types of criminals, the next oldest group being first-degree murderers. Prof. Hooton makes no attempt to account for these various differences. He is merely making a scientific survey and recording his discoveries. without opinion, as accurately as pos-

"I do not profess to be able to explain why these things should be so-I merely present my findings," he states. "I am in the dark, for instance, as to the meaning of our discoveries with respect to the physical differences among criminals when murderers taller and heavier than thieves, whether one is dealing with native born whites of native parentage. foreign whites, Negroes or Negroids? And why are fraudulent criminals in most of these groups distinguished by large size in comparison with other criminal groups?"

In pointing out the characteristics which seem to be emphasized in certain crime groups, Dr. Hooton makes it clear that he does not mean that any crime is committed exclusively by individuals of one physical type. implies merely that within this group certain variations of physical features tend to be associated disproportionate

Dr. Hooton does not go so far as to claim that the time will ever come when we can tell a criminal by his physical characteristics alone. But he does think that a scientific demonstration that an individual or racial physical type is predisposed to a certain form of crime might prove of considerable practical benefit, and identification of criminals. It might contribute to crime prevention through the examination of persons suspected of anti-social proclivities on the basis of bodily features. It might afford a better basis for the selection of immigrants. He feels the years of labor and study involved in making this research will have been well spent if it does any one of these things.

moved by her appeal, and in order to satisfy her that the boy was well and strong he finally promised to bring her a photograph of her son, provided the foster-parents gave their consent. It was understood, however, that if he did that she was to make no further effort to see the boy or regain pos session of him.

The foster parents readily consented to this, and Corwin soon brought her a photograph of her son, now a young man approaching his twenty-first birthday. But the photograph seems merely to have excited the mother to a greater desire to see her son again Corwin refused to give her any further information. Whereupon Mrs. Chavis filed a petition in Supreme Court asking that Corwin be compelled to reveal the identity of the foster parents and the whereabouts of her son

Corwin appeared in court. He admitted that he had all the information that Mrs. Chavis was seeking. But he pleaded that his relation with the foster parents was that of -attorney and clients, that the relationship was a confidential one and that therefore any such information was privileged and could not be disclosed

USTICE Witschief, although frankly sympathetic to the mother's position, agreed with Corwin and decided that he could not be compelled to give Mrs. Chavis the information. Mrs. Chavis, however, is far from sat-Isfied with that decision and declares that she will appeal from it to higher courts if necessary.

The Zulu chief Chunchunhana was then at war with the Portuguese. who had established themselves in his part of East Africa, and Brann's idea was to seize a Portuguese gunboat and turn its guns on the seaport of Lourenco Marquez, compelling the city to surrender, then assume control of the entire colony as allies of Chunchunhana -and sell it to England for, say, £20,-000,000. Dankberg convinced Braan the sale couldn't be made because of a treaty between England and Portugal. so the two adventurers decided to take the other side. Serving as scouts for the Portuguese, they helped locate the Zulu laager, get guns from the boat in position to shell the natives and carry on a series of fights with them until Chunchunhana surrendered.

After that Brann and Dankberg were given military medals by the apprecia tive Portuguese.

As a trooper in the British Rechnanaland Border Police (later the British South African Police) Dankberg took part in the First Matabele War and the Second Matabele War, but his contact with the enemy was limited to a few skirmishes. By this time several more relatives had appeared and they set up a howl. The mothers fairly shrieked.

"I am very disappointed," said Mrs. Bagnato. "I knew something like that would happen. I don't see how the Government can do such a thing. Didn't Mr. Millar leave his money to the mother with the biggest family? Can't a man do what he wants with his money?"

HE Browns quickly joined in the protest "You can expect anything these days," said Mrs. Brown. "The Government is hungry for money and poverty is in the air. But we're not going to let them have it without a fight. I don't think the Government can touch it.

Mr. Brown, proud father that he is, was extremely provoked, too.

"Whoever gets the money will have a battle on his hands first," he de clared. "I'm out to show the world we are real Canadians. If there's a fight, we'll fight. I'm out to fight Mrs. Bagnato for the honor of having the largest family and we'll fight the government for the money. My wife has earned it already.

As it happened, all the walling and Mr. Brown's frothing statements about fighting were quite unnecessary, for by this time the whole thing was becoming a pain in the neck to the province of Ontario. After a seceral Price changed his mind and withdrew the bill

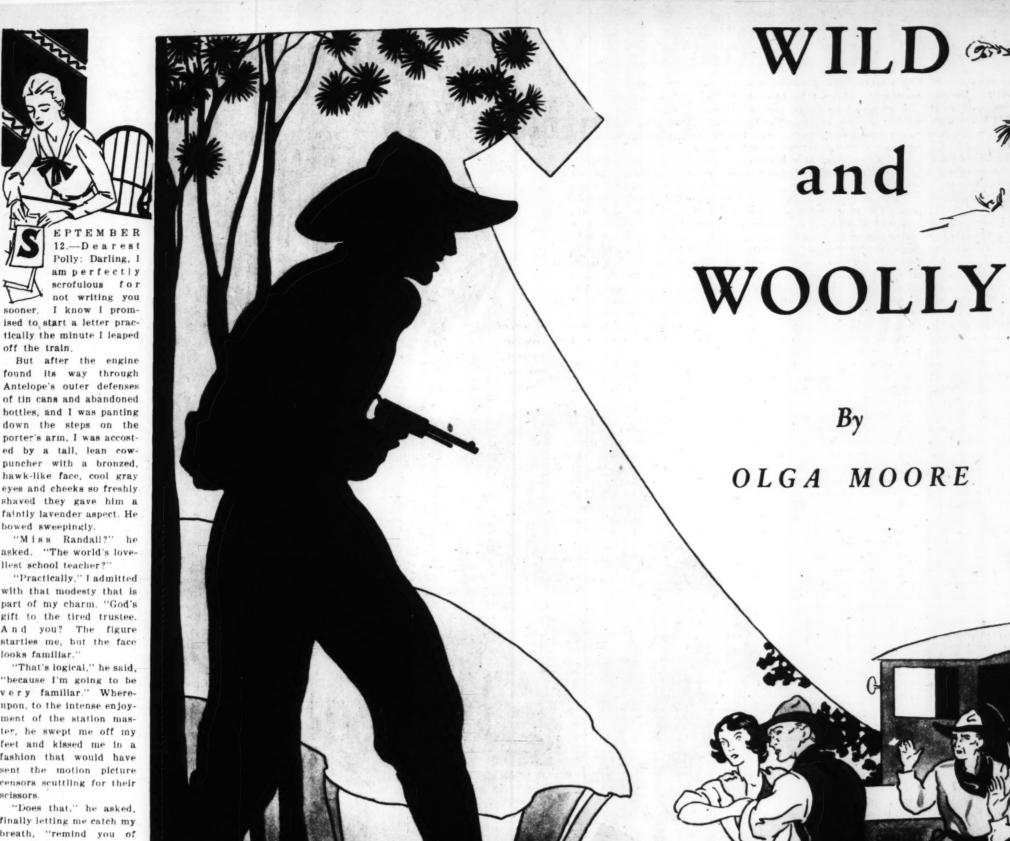

"I told the House that the government had acted on the suggestion of the trustees who seemed to know the facts in connection with the will." he explained. "It now appears that there are new claimants coming forwardpeople who say they are relatives. It come forward to make claims on this estate. They want the Lientenaut Governor to decide whether or not they may have a portion. I am afraid that as a government we cannot take the responsibility of settling the claims for all these people."

He was right about one thingthat part about other claimants comaroused hopes in the breasts of a dozen or more who thought they could trace some relationship to Charles Millar. The Harmon family of Pontiac, Michigan-Frank, Mark, Grover and Alfred Harmon and Mrs. Hattle Harmon Fisher-attacked the residuary clause of the will on the ground they were second cousins of deceased from Aylmer, Ontario, who laid claim. As grandchildren of the date Albert Millar, uncle of Charles, they claimed the estate of their aunt, Miss Roxy Millar. But the appearance of all these realtives failed to invalidate the stock of the contending mothers.

"Does that," he asked, finally letting me catch my breath, "remind you of anything?

"Yes," I gasped, rescuing my fountain pen and putting my hat back on. "it's a little reminiscent of

"But," I protested, "I have to write a letter to Polly!

"How can you," he pointed out, when I am making love to you?"

That was a lovely ride home through the haze of Indian summer. The horse joggled and Lewis kept reaching out, and I couldn't write a letter going up a canyon in the dark, anyway. Neither could you!

But the trip was a little sad, too. "Anne," said Lewis once, his voice a trifle husky, "I was a bum to let you come out. I'm a bum to marry you next week-if I do marry you."

"The idea doesn't seem as piquant as it did?" I asked a little haughtily.

"Don't be an idot, sweet!" he growled. "But I won't have you marrying a broken-down cowpuncher. Honestly, darling, I tried to write you how broke I am. I told you about the cattle market crashing and the loss I took on my steers. I tried to make you see how hard up I was, mortgaged to the hilt and my credit weak at the bank. Even then I could have swung it-our marrlage, I mean—if the damned rustlers hadn't struck!" "Rustlers?" I asked dully. "Cattle thieves? I didn't think they were fashionable any more.

"This is a quaint country," he said. "Fashions sometimes revive here. Rustling is in again!"

"These modern skunks." Lew went one, "use trucks. They round up the cattle, kill as many as they want, dress 'em, load 'em in trucks, getting 'm out of the country under cover of dark- you.

groaned. "But I'm devilish busy now." "It won't take long to get married," I pleaded. "We can work it in some odd moment. And, darling, I'll be awfully helpful to you!"

"You sweet kid," he groaned, and kissed me.

After we got to Churchill's ranch there was too much confusion to dash off a note, everybody pawing at my person and uttering shrill yelps of joy. Mrs. Churchill swore a magnificent oath and bore down with a big, cushiony hug. Churchill beamed and blinked and rubbed his hands together and stuttered till he sounded like an overwrought typewriter.

HIS Wyoming place really is a terribly sweet country. I've never been so royally welcomed in my When I went to my room that night I looked out the west window and was terribly touched to see no one had moved Bald Mountain in my absence. I threw a kiss at it. A year ago I never would have dreamed I could get sentimental with a mountain. This one made want to climb on its great calm lap, bury my head on its great, pine-scented bosom and cry-cry wildly and shakily, like a little girl, because Lew is so broke and so blue; because I want him so terribly, and because I'm frightened of something that prowls in the dark and plots against our happiness. I was too tired then to write

The next day I was too busy being popular to write you, and the next day was so sore from the horseback ride I couldn't even look at a chair without a distinct feeling of nausea. Any etiquette book will tell you it's not correct to write personal letters in a standing position. But at last I girded up my loins and grappled with my fountain pen. I hope this letter hasn't destroyed your eyesight—it has nearly broken my arm. But when the Randalls do a thing, they do it completely.

Good-by, my lamb. Give my love to Pat and tell me all the news. I'll try ried women teaching, Henrietta was to keep you posted on my wedding. It out will probably be the most sensational "Gosh, darling, I do want you!" he reading matter you've ever stumbled across. Love.

ANNE RANDALL.

September 27. Dearest Polly: Who is this man called Mussolini? Who is this person Stalin? Who is this Prince of Wales? Have these gents ever taught school in Yorkee Gap, Wyoming? Have they ever gathered the little ones about their knees and divulged the mysteries of parallelograms and the population of India and the Cabinet under Monroe and the reason two and two occasionally make four?

Yes, my dear, I am at it again Teaching.

Oh. I know, when I left Waynestown I spoke boastfully of getting married. I cast down my lashes and looked demure when people mentioned certain subjects.

And here I am teaching. Doling out the more respectable facts about Benjamin Franklin's private life. Keeping Reddy Martin in after school because Pansy Mitchell didn't exactly fancy the frog he slipped in her lunch basket. No, darling, Lewis hasn't jilted me

And I haven't jilted him. I'm hanging on to that man like the well-known and justly famous wallpaper. In fact, I'm just the least bit insane about

I told you in my last letter about the cattle rustling, didn't I? Well, the thieves broke in and snagged off 20 more head from Lew's herd. It staggered him. The next day two other momentous things happened; his note came due at the bank, taking every available cent he could raise, and the Yorkee Gap School Board found themselves suddenly bereft of a teacher.

The school teacher in these regions is a very quaint species of fauna, as shy as a violet, and as elusive as a deer. First, they engaged Henrietta Spinner, a young lady prominent in Antelope social circles. But Henrietta developed an acute case of matrimony after the Fourth of July celebra-

> The board then hunted up a doughty widow, name of Nellie Sprague, who assured them positively she seldom got married. But the buxom widow had five children of her own, all of them prizefighters in an advanced stage, it seems, and they promptly beat up the local hopefuls. Mothers sent their children off in the morning, looking fairly human, and got them back at night, just battered collections of rags, legs and a few features. Benny Churchill finally laid out the widow's oldest boy. Steve, and the widow attacked Mrs. Churchill bare-handed. It was not exactly politic, because Mr. Churchill is president of the School Board. And Yorkee Gap parents were faced by the horrible prospect of having their children home this winter.

> TYHEN I arrived on the scene the board all but went on their knees to me. They told me was the best teacher that Yorkee Gap had ever had, and whatnot, and what-not. I thought deeply. That $100 a month, while not exactly the earnings of a Midas, would help Lew and me a lot. And I couldn't have the job if I were married. So I faced Lew boldly one night and told him I felt it my duty to lift these poor children from the depths of illiteracy into which they would be plunged if I were deaf to the call, and informed him the wedding would take place next

> "And I sort of want a real honeymoon," I told him. "I don't want to tear panting from the altar to the bank; I don't want to push the orange blossoms from my brow to yell 'scat' at some cattle thief; I don't want to spend my wedding night blushingly signing mortgages.

"No," he grinned, "I don't want you blushing over mortgages. But, oh, Lord, honey, a year seems an awfully long time."

Lew is being terribly darling to me. One reason he's so broke is he spent his summer profits installing a sweet, white-tiled bathroom in the ranchin dark oak, with heavy rafters and a massive fireplace.

Do tell me the news in Waynestown. Aunt Hannah writes fluently of all the prominent colds, rheumatisms and neuralgias about town, but she neglects to tell me what the fast young set are doing.

Must stop and scribble something harrowing to Aunt Hannah. What would she do if I were to disappear and she wouldn't have anyone left to scandalize her? Yours practically al-ANNE.

October 14.

Dearest Polly: Lewis got almost unmanageable and I was thrilled to death. Also a few other odds and ends of the male population sat up and sniffed the desert air.

"See that dark, slick hombre over by the door?" Lew asked once. "I may have to kill him." "Why?" I asked. "Does he know something about your past?" "I don't like the way he looks at you," said Lewis. "Sort of a cross between a leer and an ogle. "Oh, not an ogle!" I pleaded. thought only Frenchmen did that. Fancy finding an ogle here!"

Lew bounded off with Mrs. Churchill and I was left-as the old novels have it-at the mercy of the wolves. The tall unknown came up to "Really," I drawled, "I can't see that it's necessary." But this person was not so easily shriveled. "Sure, it's necessary," he urged.

"How am I going to make you love me if we ain't acquainted?" "I'm sure I don't know." I mur mured. "It'sounds so difficult."

"It ain't so hard." he assured me. "Some girls get real handy at it. By the way, acquainted or not, you're having this dance with me!"

But he was pleasant. "Sorry Sun mers," he said, "this lady yearns for a dance with me. She's peculiar that way.

"Oh, yes?" asked Summers, looking at him out of cool black eyes. "Yes," said Lew, still sweet and af fable. "And she's dangerous when she yearns.

"I have fits," I put in, and stepped into Lew's arms. "I bit a man once,

Years of drifting about the Pacific Coast followed. For a time he was a member of the Honolulu police force. Then back to New York and other cities in the East. In 1924 he went to Cuernavaca, Mexico, to be steward in a club, only to discover, after his arrival, that the steward had to speak Spanish, and that German, French, English and several African dialects would not do as substitute for the language he didn't speak. So he made his way to New Orleans and worked for the United Fruit Company a while.

And, then, in 1925, came to St. Louis.

Here he has worked at a variety of jobs in a variety of places, including the Missouri Athletic Association and Hotel Jefferson. Recently his physical infirmity rendered him incapable of supporting himself longer. And the only solution to the problem thus created seemed to be the City Infirmary.

This panel is probably the second most ancient gabled and pinnacled architectural frame, which accounts both for its curious shape and the scale of the figures. In the multi-chapeled churches of medieval Italy such paintings must have been legion. Their gold backgrounds glistening in the flickering candlelight would serve to set off the rather austere and flatly modeled figures of the sacred personages and give them an atmosphere of such works as this are seen today under the allrevealing electric light this early setting should be kept in mind.

At this time oil as a pigment medium was little or never used by Italian artists. The colors were mixed with yolk of egg, producing what is known as tempera. The viscous nature of this medium made it necessary to paint in carefully laid parallel strokes which did not flow together. If Your Child "Eats Poorly" In Summer

> Here's a Way to Make Him Hungry Even for Vegetables and Milk

This Swiss Food Discovery By Actually Creating The Sensation of Hunger Offsets Loss of Appetite In Summer . . . Adds Weight At The Rate of A Pound A Week. . . Curbs Nervousness Remarkably Accept a Trial Package -- Note the Coupon Below

OSS of appetite in summer is not natural in a child; for the vacation rest-period is the one time above all when a child should be storing up energy and replenishing his vital-reserve. When he should be compensating for the drain of the previous school year and building up for the next.

So if your child eats poorly in summer, try this remarkable way to make "finicky eaters eat! A way that does not merely tempt the appetite—but which actually creates the sensation of hunger. Immediately you start, you'll note the difference. Meal-time fussing becomes a thing of the past. Not only will you find your child eager to eat (even such foods as spinach, carrots and lettuce)-but you'll find him willing to drink double the usual amount

A remarkable food discovery from Switzerland will achieve this result for your child. It is called Ovaltine. In summer you simply give it shaken-up with cold milk. And children love its taste.

How It Literally "Creates" Hunger

Ovaltine is made by a special vacuum process, which makes it utterly different from

For the Child who Doesn't "Build Up" and Sleeps Poorly

My little girl was tall for her age, but couldn't seem to gain weight. However, since we started giving her Ovaltine she has developed a splendid healthy appetite and is filling out nicely. She really tooks like a different child and sleeps much better, too. I always give her a glass of Ovaltine at bed-lime and we never hear a reep out of her until 8:30 or 9:00 o'clock in the marning, when she knows it's time for breakfast—and more Ovaltine.

Every Night Except Sunday

For the Child Who Is Underweight and Nervous

When I got my little girl's health report from school, she was 10 pounds underweight, so, as you can imagine, I was very much worried. I read about Ovaltine, and decided to give it a trial.

Anna, who is seven years old, gained 2 pounds the first 2 weeks. I think Ovaltine is a wonderful help to her nerses, and it makes her sleep soundly the whole night through.

These letters are typical of thousands which have been received.

the appetite-producing Vitamin B. Second: And much more important-Ovaltine contains a high proportion of a remarkable food property called "diastase." This substance has the power to digest the starch content of other foods in the stomach. Thus, Ovaltine will actually digest 4 to 5 times its own weight of the starch content of the other foods a child eats. And the diet of the average child contains about 60% of starchy foods.

First: Besides being extremely nourishing and easy to digest, it is particularly rich in Ovaltine not only aids a child's digestion, in this way, but speeds up the processes and empties the stomach sooner. This makes a child hungry. For hunger is largely a sensation caused by the walls of an empty stomach drawing together.

Quicker Digestion

This speeding up of the digestive processes is tremendously important. For specialists will tell you that the child with slow digestion is the one who eats poorly-who shuns vegetables-who objects to drinking milk.

But once digestive processes are accelerated by the diastatic action of Ovaltine, a definite change takes place. You see the result at once. The old objection to everyday foods gradually disappears. And even a "vegetable-hunger" is built up day by day.

Milk, too, is taken twice as readily when it is mixed with Ovaltine. And Ovaltine has a delicious taste that the fussiest child is unable to resist.

Start Today

For the sake of your child, we urge you to try Ovaltine. By doing so, you can make this a real health-summer for him.

Results will surprise you. Note the almost immediate difference in appetite-in the way he acts at meals. Note, too, the attendant increase in weight, in nerve poise and in

Give Ovaltine at breakfast always-at meals and between meals. It is extremely economical to serve. For it is all food-concentrate-and contains no added sugar to give it bulk and cheapen its cost. You add your own sugar at home. So don't be misled if you're offered a sweet-tasting "sugar-mixture" substitute. You can get Ovaltine at any drug or grocery store. Or send the coupon below for a generous trial supply . . . Notice the offer of a 50c professional shaker which is now being given free.

NOTE: Thousands of nervous people, men and women, are using Ovaltine to restore vitality when fatigued. It is also highly recommended by physicians for sleeplessness — for nursing mothers, convalescents, and the aged.
